National Guard News

The campaign for recruits in the different organizations has been successful and Company H will close its work with a smoker in the company headquarters in the armory. The musical and vocal selections will form part of the program and the "entertainment" which will be conducted on the side, promises to be rushed throughout the evening.

Captain Bourne of the signal corps has arranged a number of sets of telegraph instruments for use at any time. Although the classes will be conducted only Tuesday and Thursday, the telegraphers may operate at any time. The advance squad, under Corporal James Rhinold, is doing some rapid work and will make a good showing for inspection.

The rifle scores made by the members of the signal corps and battery will be posted Sunday. The medals for shooting will not be given to the winners until all scores have been approved of by the war department.

Certainly, on hearing music of surpassing grandeur, such as was heard by the audience that attended the presentation of "Faust" at the Salt Lake theatre last night, the words of Plato that "the essence of order, and leads to all that is good, just and beautiful, of all that is lovely, of all that is dazzling, passionate and eternal form." On hearing "Faust" sung by the Lambard company one is moved to believe that the words of Plato that music "is the essence of order, and leads to all that is good, just and beautiful, of all that is lovely, of all that is dazzling, passionate and eternal form." On hearing "Faust" sung by the Lambard company one is moved to believe that the words of Plato that music "is the essence of order, and leads to all that is good, just and beautiful, of all that is lovely, of all that is dazzling, passionate and eternal form."

The "Faust" that was sung Friday night was a masterpiece of music and with out flaw. The principals were commanding, the chorus was brave and strong. "Faust" is not the grand opera that it is called, but a masterpiece of music. "Faust" is a masterpiece of music. It is a story full of romantic and dramatic and glacial. The plot has to overcome before the splendor of the music in which Gounod wrote may be accepted, and even then, even after the triumph of the music, brought out in the height of perfect harmony, there is a lurking suspicion that hampers one's mind for the impress of the music is too strong.

The foremost part in the opera differs in the views of men. Some have the play of honor to Margaret and some have the play of love. On Friday evening's performance these two roles were sung as perhaps they have never been sung before. Salt Lake Signor Calvi has a soprano whose description may be encompassed in the two words, entrancing and entrancing. Antonio, a beautiful tenor, has a voice which seems ever to grow in capacity, yet never in its furthest reaches, in these lines of quaver, in which these two singers are the same, both are actors of skill. Sabellio especially imparts to the role of the role of Wagner and made of it all that the character demands.

Brief mention was made in the beginning of the performance of the Lambard chorus. This excellence was well attested in the "Soldiers' Chorus," a repetition of which was demanded by the enthusiastic and unmistakable demonstration of approval on the part of the audience. All of the principals were repeatedly brought out, and their brilliant and climatic, and altogether, "Faust" was pleasing to the people who heard it.

This (Saturday) afternoon the Lambards will close their Salt Lake engagement with a matinee, at which the famous coupled bill, "Pagliacci" and "Cavalcade" will be presented.

The curtain will go up promptly at 2 o'clock, in order that the performance may be concluded in time to permit the singers to take an evening train for Los Angeles.

The last two performances of "The Top of the World" will be given this afternoon and evening. Bailey and Anglin have proved themselves to be big favorites in Salt Lake, and have pleased large audiences at every performance.

Allice Lloyd, the English comedienne, who has been the attraction of the week, will sing her last songs to Salt Lake this afternoon and evening. In addition to Miss Lloyd's number, there are the McAnanias, the Germanes, and other acts. The new bill will go into effect Sunday afternoon.

The dates for the presentation of "A Dress Rehearsal" in Whitney hall, for which Professor Carless acts as director, and Sybil Chastain as accompanist, are this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and next Wednesday and Friday evenings at 8:15. All the proceeds go to the benefit of the hall fund. J. D. Spencer is assisting Mr. Whitney in the stage management.

At the Grand today and tonight will be the last appearance of the Sutton players, as Theodora Lord and company will open at the matinee Sunday afternoon.

What has been voted to be one of the best vaudeville bills seen in this city for a long time is now running at the Mission theatre. Every number of the bill is up to the high standard set by the house, and a number of them are in the real headline class.

Coming to Salt Lake after its phenomenal five-months' Chicago engagement, the revised edition of "The Almshouse" for which credit is given to Richard Carroll and Gust Klingberg, is exceptionally cleverly produced comedians. The Salt Lake Theatre will throw open its doors Monday night for a four-night engagement with a matinee Washington's birthday.
